

Amulya K. Saxena, MD PhD DSc(hon) FRCS(Glasg)

Amulya K. Saxena is a Consultant Neonatal and Pediatric Surgeon at the Chelsea Children's Hospital, Chelsea and Westminster NHS Fdn Trust, Imperial College London. He gained work experience at major tertiary European and American Medical Centers, has been instrumental in his development of expertise in multiple areas of pediatric, neonatal and adolescent surgery.

Amulya Saxena was a Research Fellow in Surgery at the Boston Children's Hospital, Harvard Medical School, USA and gained further experience in Pediatric Surgery at the Children's Mercy Hospital, University of Missouri, Kansas City, USA, the Hospital 12 de Octubre, Universidad Complutense, Madrid, Spain, the Fetal Centre, Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center, University of Cincinnati, Cincinnati, USA and the Juntendo University Medical School, Tokyo, Japan. His research is focused in the area of "Tissue Engineering and Regenerative Medicine".

Amulya Saxena has won prestigious European and International awards for his contribution to pediatric surgery. He has presented over 450 papers at International Surgical Conference, authored over 150 articles, written over 65 book chapters and has organized over 40 congresses, seminars and workshops. Amulya Saxena is the Editor-in-Chief of the Journal of Pediatric Endoscopic Surgery. He is in the Editorial Board of 8 Peer-Reviewed Journals and an ad-hoc Reviewer for over 30 Peer-reviewed Journals and. He has expertise in pediatric, neonatal and adolescent minimal invasive surgery (MIS- laparoscopy and thoracoscopy) and Chest Wall Deformities, and has edited two books "Essentials of Pediatric Endoscopic Surgery" and "Chest Wall Deformities".

He is also an active member in a number of societies, including: European Pediatric Surgeons Association (EUPSA), European Society for Pediatric Endoscopic Surgery (ESPES), British Association of Pediatric Surgeons (BAPS), British Association of Pediatric Endoscopic Surgeons (BAPES), German Society of Pediatric Surgery (DGKCH) and Austrian Society of Pediatric Surgery (ÖGKCH) and International Society for Pediatric Wound Care (ISPeW).